FINDS AXE BELONGING TO "ABE" LINCOLN

A correspondent at Raywick, Ky., writes in a Lebanon paper of a remarkable find. Forty-two years ago he unearthed an axe on the Lincoln farm in Hardin county. With scarcely a reason he can remember, he carried the rutsy blade, which dropped from a rotten handle, to his home. In several moves the axe moved with the plunder as scrap iron for the junkman when he might call. On an idle day, he picked it up and in curiosity ground it to see if the ancient piece of steel would hold an edge. Under dirt and rust he found the initials A. L. To-morrow will see the opening of the annual sessions of the Redpath Chautauqua, which will be a stellar attraction for Paris people ing seven days of unalloyed enjoyment in all. A force of workmen arrived Monday and at once proceded to erect the big tent of on the Paris High School grounds, which will be the Mecca of Bourbon county people for several days.

The program this year will be one of the very best that has been offered in many years, combining, as it does, several most distinctive features that have made the Redpath Chautauqua one of the bestliked in that particular field. The official program has been printed in full in the Paris papers, and given to the public through other means, and suffice it to say that it is one that will interest, amuse and instruct everyone who attends.

The program this year will be in charge of J. T. Hughes, who has had many years experience in the! Chautauqua field.

ANCIENT SHOP SOLD MEXICO PICKING

Nothing but Drugs Ever Sold in This London Pharmacy.

Worshipful Company of Apothecaries Disposes of Its Historic Shop In City of London-Established In Seventeenth Century.

London.—The Worshipful Company of Apothecaries has sold its ancient shop to a London firm of druggists. It has been carried on by this city company since early in the Seventeenth century and was, as it were, the classic druggist's shop, with its discreet window of frosted glass-the apothecaries did not display their wares-the shop forms, the plain facade behind which is hidden a dim old courtyard and then the hall and other rooms of the society. Almost next door, in Water Lane, was the Blackfriars theater, where Shakespeare and Burbage played.

The society's prescriptions, formulas and special preparations-many ders, has not changed hands yet.

The shop is a spacious place, lined with mellow-looking old bottles, You look in vain for patent medicines persons. or any paraphernalia of the modern chemist. It is all drugs and nothing their original functions.

Paris People Should Learn to Detect the Approach of Kidney

Disease

The symptoms of kidney trouble are many. Disordered kidneys often excreate a thick, cloudy,, offensive urine, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding. The back may ache, headaches and dizzy spells may occur and the victim is often weighted down by a feeling of languor and fatigue. Neglect these warnings and there is danger. Delay often proves fatal.

MOUNTAIN HERO'S GRAVE MARKED

He has written his name where all can read, and at no time can human hands efface." Thus reads a portion of an inscription which appears on a marker which will be erected at the grave of Henry Hurst (1762-1844), on a mountain top near the waters of Wolf creek, at the corner of Breathitt, Morgan and Wolf counties. Henry Hurst was a revolutionary soldier (the great grandfather of Sam K. Kash, of Corbin), and had some remarkable experiences in that war. He was captured by the enemy on four different occasions, making his escape after slaying his guard or guards, being a captive only a short time. He fired and blew up one of Cornwallis' magazines near Trenton and did other daring deeds to harrass the enemy. After the close of the war young Hurst came to Kentucky and settled in the eastern part of the State, and lived until 1844. His wishes to be on the mountain top carried out. The erection of the marker monument is at the instance of his great grandson, Sam K. Kash, who is at present holding a government position in Washington, and who was present at the exercises at the grave on July 4, on which occasion he delivered an appropriate oration at the resting place of his ancestor who was laid to rest there seventyeight years ago.

How Halifax Got Its Name. Halifax, the capital of Nova Scotia, founded by Lord Cornwallis in 1749, is named after the earl of Halifax, the English statesman who served his country in the house of commons and house of lords from 1688 until his death in 1715. In England, the city of Halifax is of considerable importance as a market town.
